

Back On My Feet

The Road Back to Financial Independence

www.muthoniomukhango.kenyacalc.org/back-on-my-feet

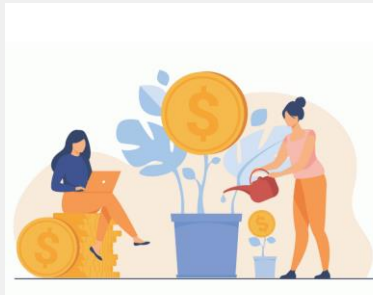

Financial Independence

1. Introduction to financial independence (Friday 15th January 2021)
2. How to go back to school - with tips on free online courses (Friday 22nd January 2021)
3. How to start a business - 37 ways to work from home during a pandemic by Jim Palumbo (Friday 29th January 2021)
4. How to renew or update your professional skills (Friday 5th February 2021)
5. How to find a support system (Friday 12th February 2021)
6. How to do savings & investments (Friday 19th February 2021)
7. How to claim succession and inheritance for your child (Friday 26th February 2021)
8. How to seek child support (Friday 5th March 2021)

Emotional Stability

Financial Independence

Mastering Child Care

Overview:

Introduction
+My Testimony

Accountability

Q&A

Support System via Counselling

Q&A

INTRODUCTION

Who supports you professionally when it's time to make hard professional decisions? Do you have peers or mentors you can turn to?

Anyone who supports you and is able to provide professional guidance will do.

Men and women are more successful when they have mentors guiding them both personally and professionally.

Once you've picked who you want in your accountability journey, chart a plan to connect with them.

This can be someone who is readily accessible or someone you've admired from afar. In the latter case, do your homework and make the process easier for them.

Let them know how much their work means to you and that will open the door to discussions around lending their time to help make you a success.

In the modern times, many life and success coaches cost so much to walk with you.

While the cost is most certainly value for your money because you get professional input to propel you forward, my advise is to start with free accountability partners.

This way, you do not add to your financial burden.

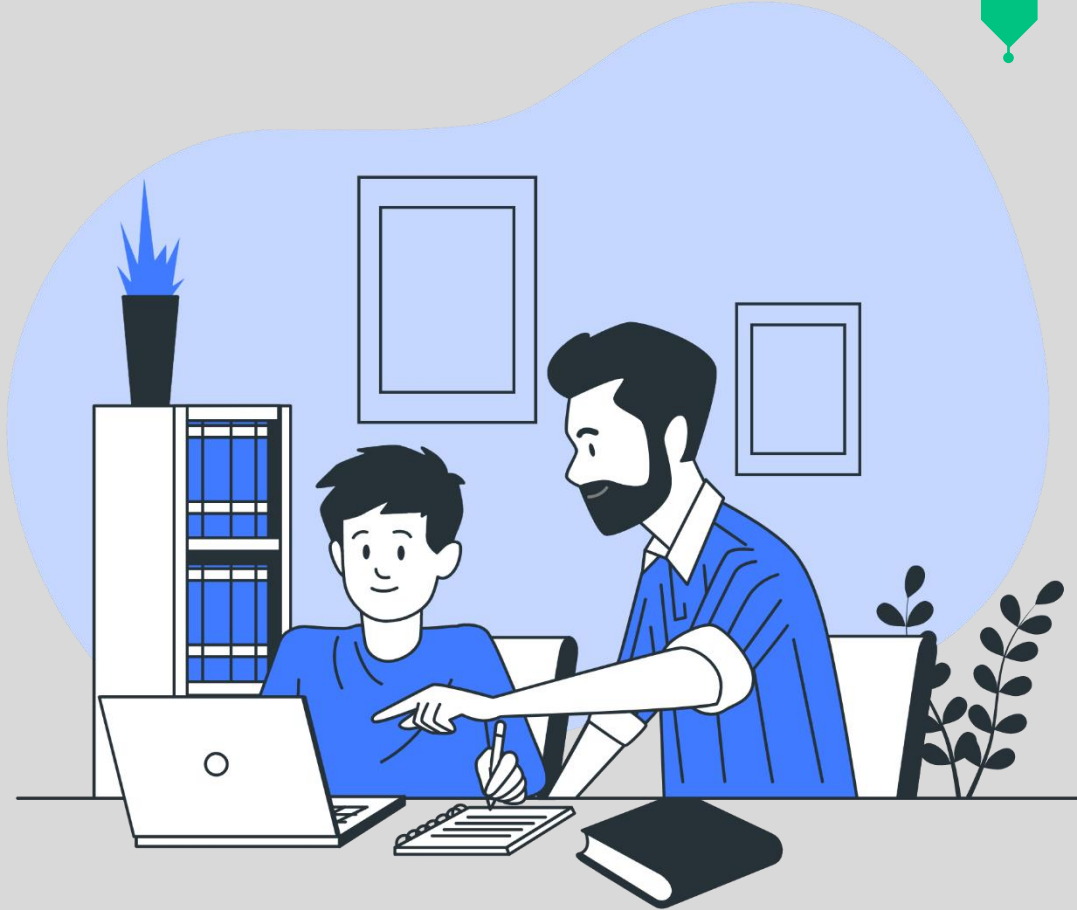

My Testimony

In my road to financial freedom, I had my Pastors, Vincent and Dolly, walk with me and hold me to my goals.

At a time when I was feeling like I had hit rock bottom, I remember Vincent letting me know, in front of a group of people that I was his project and that him and the wife would support me to their level best.

I had started one of the business ventures I talked about in previous zoom sessions, and he instilled confidence in me to move forward. His words echo in my ears so vividly to date, because he and Dolly believed in me; in what I was doing; and they foresaw my being such a success in this life.

That's all I needed to hear... and I made a good success of my life alright – not yet there but I am in the right track.

The business venture continued for about five years or so, and I eventually closed it when it outlived its purpose.

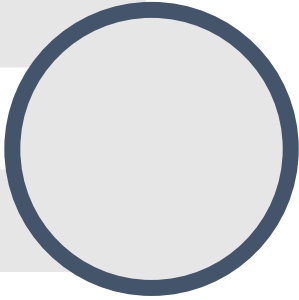

The point here is not whether you make an empire out of whatever your hands find to do or not.

The point is that you find someone who:

- Believes in you;
- Instills confidence in you when the going gets tough;
- Prays for and with you;
- Helps you to open your eyes to making simple but life threatening mistakes;
- Corrects you out of love and,
- Keeps you accountable to your goals.

Two are better than one...

If you get that person or persons, you are set for success in every area of your life.

Accountability by Nelly Kagoru

We are living in times when few people can be trusted.

The world is full of self-centered individuals. Consumed with envy, many are very cold towards others, and they find it extremely hard to wish them well.

This makes it almost impossible to be accountable. Regardless, you need people to walk with you.

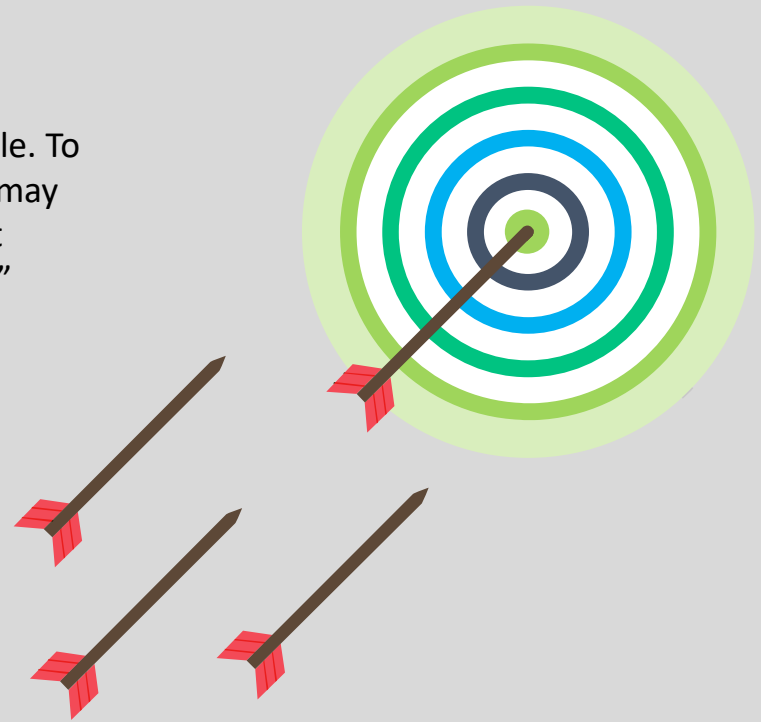

To be a better person in any and all spheres of life, you need to be open to rebuke. This is especially necessary for children of God.

Thankfully, for that much-needed transformation that sprouts from accountability, God sends people to help us in this journey.

Accountability is - first and foremost – about being reliable. To get a good picture of your personal accountability, you may want to periodically ask yourself, “Can people count on me to do what I say I’ll do, as I said I would do it?”

Henry J. Evans

Q&A

Accountability

How can you use counselling as a support system if you are going through separation, divorce or a difficult marriage to ensure you don't find yourself in a financial mess after the dust settles?

Are you attending The Road Back To Financial Stability & Independence - How To Find a Support System?

We are attending too and we will share a special segment on how to use counselling as a support system if you are going through separation, divorce and a difficult marriage to ensure you don't find yourself in a financial mess after the dust settles.

Pst. Barnie & Grace Achoki

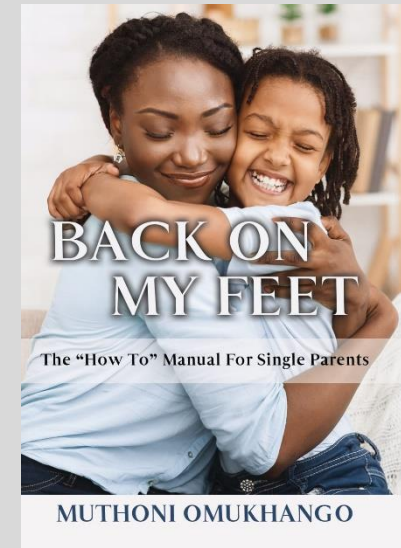

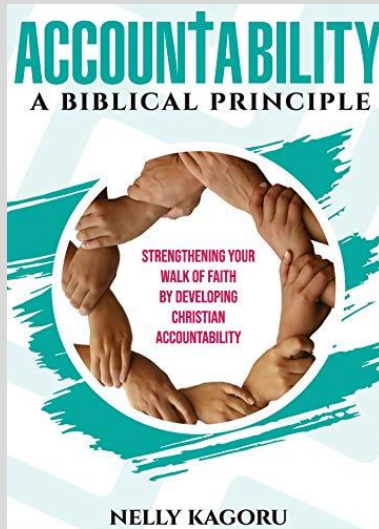

www.muthoniomukhango.kenyacalc.org/back-on-my-feet

Q&A The Achokis

www.muthoniomukhango.kenyacalc.org/back-on-my-feet

Charting the Course (SoMa 1)

Navigating the Storm (SoMa 2)

Healing & Restoration (SoMa 3)

www.kenyacalc.org/shop

{ Thank you! }

www.muthoniomukhango.kenyacalc.org/back-on-my-feet